

"Listen to the Lord"

Utterance by Pastor Bitely, July 26, 2009

For the Word of the Lord came unto me saying: Troubles, troubles, trouble upon trouble and grief, grief upon grief unto those that will not harken unto Me, saith the Lord. For I have sent My Word for you to walk in. I have sent My Spirit to empower you and even guide you. Yea, I have even sent My servant to speak unto you, to all who will listen and for all that will follow and for all that will do, there is victory. There is no need for defeat. There is no need for troubles to overcome you. There is no need for grief, to even come into your midst and it shall not, saith the Lord, if you will harken unto My Word and be doers of My Word. If you would follow My Spirit, that I have sent unto you, for He shall guide you and lead you and yea even My servant here, if you will harken unto his voice. For his voice is but My voice. And so there are three that even bear witness in this day and in this hour. For there is victory. There is victory for you, saith the Lord. But it does not come easily. It does not come through the flesh, but it comes through the Spirit. Victory comes from My Word. Victory comes by obedience and obeying me, saith the Lord. Yeah even in the small things. Things you don't necessarily understand, but you might as well believe it, because you saw it in My Word and then you are quick to obey in the Spirit. For the Spirit beareth_witness with your spirit and shows you even things to come so harken unto the voice of the Spirit. Have I not said: Harden not your hearts, today if you would hear His voice, harden not your hearts. For yea, My Spirit even speaks unto you this day. And this My servant, for I have set some in the church. I have set some in the church to speak unto the church and to teach and to train and to even bring My voice into your midst. So harken this day and know what I say is true. That troubles shall come and grief shall come to those that will not listen and will not harken. But victory, victory and peace await those that will hear and walk in My way, saith the Lord.
